DOCUMENTARY PREMIERE “Lords of Nature: Life in a Land of Great Predators” Film & Discussion

Tenino, WA – Birds, butterflies, beaver and antelope, wildflowers and frogs — could their survival possibly be connected to top predators like the wolf and cougar? For those who have seldom given thought to the great predators so often missing from the web of life, here is a world of reason to think again. Following in the footsteps of wolves and cougars, and the scientists working to understand their place in the rapidly changing world of nature, award-winning filmmakers Karen and Ralf Meyer of Green Fire Productions have captured the predators’ ongoing drama in their new documentary, Lords of Nature: Life in a Land of Great Predators. Narrated by Peter Coyote, this captivating documentary goes behind the scenes with leading scientists to explore the role top predators play in restoring and maintaining ecosystems and biodiversity. Lords of Nature will screen at the Seattle REI on Thursday, May 14, 2009 at 7:00pm and will be followed by a Q&A panel discussion with scientists, wildlife managers, and conservationists, including Linda Saunders, Director of Conservation from Wolf Haven International.
